IDMoS Medical Ltd a subsidiary of IDMoS plc is based in Dundee, UK. In addition to premises in Dundee, the company has an office in Wroclaw, Poland, and plans to open up an office at St John's Innovation Centre in Cambridge, UK, shortly. Based on the proprietary bio impedance technology a number of medical applications have been identified and a family of new devices is under development to target patients with osteoporosis, skin and oral cancer. The device for osteoporosis is a further development of the caries detection device (CDD) and has been tested in a first pivotal study with promising results.
